WORKING THERAPEUTICALLY WITH CHILDREN & YOUNG PEOPLE

(4 Day Foundation Programme)

Who is this course for?

This course is suitable for counsellors and those already working with children in a supportive environment e.g. professionals working around adoption and looked after children, teaching staff, pastoral staff, social workers and associated health professionals. There are 3 additional linked workshops which will compliment this 4 day course – Assessing CYP Clients (15th October), Drawing and Talking (19th November) and Sand Tray Therapy (10th December). This is a non-accredited programme that will deepen the understanding of working therapeutically with children & young people.

Aims of the course

- To be more aware of the differences when working with CYP clients as opposed to adult clients
- To look at safeguarding and confidentiality, managing parents and carers appropriately, child development, adolescent issues, play work, attachment, grieving and traumatised children, bullying and self-confidence issues
- To have had the chance to role play and practise therapeutic situations
- To be able to connect to your own inner child in the service of children you may be trying to help
- To know how to work safely and ethically with all school age children and older teens
- To be in a better position to decide if this work is for you at this time in your life!
